How We Collect and Use Other Information

We and our third-party service providers may collect and use other information in a variety of ways, including:

- Through your browser or device: Certain information is collected by most browsers and/or through your device, such as your Media Access Control (MAC) address, device type, screen resolution, operating system version and internet browser type and version. We use this information to ensure Sites function properly, for fraud detection and prevention, and security purposes.
- As a way of authenticating a user using our mobile app in the following ways:

User Data	Why does the app need this data?	How does the app use it?
Username	To save the user from entering his/her username each time during login if user has enabled the “remember me” feature.	The app will encrypt the username and store it on user’s mobile device.
Password	To authenticate the user who logs into the app.	The app requires the user to type in the password during login. The app does not store the password anywhere in the app or on device.
Phone number	The app uses the user’s phone number on the profile to send a text message or call during multi-factor authentication (MFA) to verify the user’s identity.	The phone number is collected during the user registration process. It is stored in the backend database, NOT in the app or on the device.
Fingerprint	To authenticate the user to log into the app, if user has enabled the fingerprint login feature.	The app will access the user’s fingerprints that are already stored on the device. The app does not store the fingerprint inside of the app.

Specific feature functionality within our mobile banking apps will require access to user data such as user’s Contacts list on the phone or user’s current location. Currently, the app requires access to the following user data:

User Data	Why does the app need this data?	How does the app use it?
Contacts	To save the user from entering the contact information of another person to whom the user wants to transfer funds, if user uses the Zelle feature.	The app will ask user to grant permission before accessing the user’s Contacts stored on the device. The app does not store the Contacts inside of the app.
Current Location	To save the user from entering the current location information when using the Locator Search feature.	The app will ask user to grant permission before accessing the device’s location service to retrieve user’s current location. The app does not store the user’s current location inside of the app.

- We share Contacts information with the third party vendor that supports the Zelle feature. We share user’s current location information with the third party vendor that supports the Locator Search feature. We do not share any other user data with third party applications.
